Director's Notes

Some time before it was eventually published in 2003, Amanda Brown's novel Legally Blonde was optioned as a film. Loosely based on her own experiences while attending Stanford Law School, this 'first-time-out' novel is substantially different from its descendant adaptations. It was film producer Marc Platt who asked Karen McCullah Lutz and Kirsten Smith (10 Things I Hate About You) to rework the unpublished manuscript into a screenplay. The result was a highly successful motion picture, released in 2001, starring Reese Witherspoon.

After a try-out in San Francisco, the musical adaptation opened on Broadway in 2007 and ran for 595 performances. It was nominated for 7 Tony Awards but won none. The West End production in London, England lasted substantially longer (974 performances) and won 3 Olivier Awards for Best New Musical, Best Actress in a Musical and Best Performance in a Supporting Role in a Musical. Since then resident productions have opened in Australia, South Korea, The Netherlands, France, The Philippines, Sweden and Finland. Infact, this musical's notoriously faithful international fan base has bolstered its reputation to almost cult status. Its messages of the pitfalls of judging appearances and the rewards of remaining true to yourself now speak to our present younger generation in a way that the musical Rent did to the generation before it!

We all have had a joyous time rehearsing this production. And what a privilege it has been to work with Choreographer Robin Calvert and Music Director Tara Litvack – two extraordinarily talented, passionate artists. In fact, the Designers, Production Staff, Cast and Crew all have been a bit of heaven on earth!

I hope you enjoy this show as much as we have preparing it for you!
